

Mills Community Support Corporation

Casual On-Call Support Workers Required

for locations in Almonte, Carleton Place & Smiths Falls

For over 30 years, Mills Community Support Corporation has been providing support services to individuals with intellectual disabilities.

As a casual employee, you can elect to take shifts that are flexible for your lifestyle. You have the opportunity to work in various settings including group home residences, apartments, recreational activities and job placements. We also provide services to individuals living in supported independent living (SIL) and enhanced supported independent living (ESIL). You will receive information on numerous training and educational workshops. We also provide many in-house training programs.

Minimum education, skill requirements and job descriptions are available upon request. Experience in community services as related to intellectually delayed persons is required. We are looking for individuals who are creative, flexible, and interested in maximizing the integration of individuals into their communities.
